Today

Congress Comes Back.
Sad, Snowy, Slippery.
John D. the Third.
Easy, With Russia.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CONGRESS has opened the regular session and a cut of $160,000,000 in the income tax is the program.

That will be welcome news to those who pay income tax, a small percentage of all the people.

BUT IT is just as important news to those who pay no income tax. They all earn money, and any cut in income tax, especially in corporation tax, encourages development, expansion, employment.

A man will work harder for money that the government does not take away from him.

SAD snowy rainy day in Wall Street. Snow falling, melting, sidewalks, streets and prices slippery. Not much progress on foot, not much progress on the ticker.

But there is no bad news, and that is good news.

PROSPERITY for the next few months depends on the mental attitude of the people and their private talking. No president, no collection of hundred-million-dollar men, no promises to spend billions, can wipe out the bad effects of a national pessimistic mood.

IF every man would learn to talk about the country's progress and future as a young mother talks about her new baby, there would be no danger of hard times.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, third grandson of the builder of the name, went to work at 26 Broadway, yesterday morning. He was on time.

Twenty-three years old, a big young man, bigger physically than his father, John D., third, and with many opportunities in life, he will inherit what is called the world's largest fortune. By the time he gets it it may not be as big as Edsel Ford's, and not as big as that of some man unknown to-day.

BUT, he will surely have enough to carry out any ideas that he may have. Everything depends on the ideas.

A few men because of great wealth stand out in history. There was the richest Roman, whose son went to war with Caesar and made a good general. His father, with all the money, made a failure when he went with Lucullus.

The original Medici took to money-making, his sons doing more than any family on earth ever did for art.

JACQUES COEUR, the rich man of France, used his fortune for his country at a time of need, was treated with the usual ingratitude.

Now comes young Rockefeller, third generation, starting in with hundreds of millions around him, and many other hundreds of millions buried in pools of oil under the ground.

HE WILL have to work hard to keep ahead of some other 23-year-old boy, without a dollar, but with something more valuable, NECESSITY DRIVING HIM.

IT IS all right to make mild suggestions. Let us hope that this country will not be put in a position to spend billions, and without success, to help some witless financiers get back loans stupidly made

$160,000,000 Income Tax Cut Gift Looms

CONGRESS WILL SPEED YULE PRESENT PLAN

Treasury Can Stand Slash, Ogden L. Mills Says.

VOTE THURSDAY

Consideration of Move On Third Day Unprecedented.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Congress threw its legislative machine into high speed today to furnish a Christmas present to the American people in the form of a $160,000,000 income tax reduction resolution.

The tax measure started on its journey when Under Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills was called before the ways and means committee to give assurance the treasury can stand the cut.

Committee consideration of tax legislation on the third day of a new session was almost unprecedented. House leaders set as their goal passage of the resolution by unanimous vote tomorrow.

Sen. Smoot (R) of Utah, chairman of the senate finance committee, announced the senate was ready to act as soon as it receives the house bill. Democratic and Progressive leaders indicated they would support him.

One-Year Reduction.

With the treasury surplus on next June 30 estimated at $226,000,000 and $123,000,000 in 1931, Mills assured the committee the treasury can stand the slash. He spoke for Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Explaining the treasury's recommendation that the tax cut be made for one year rather than permanently, Mills said the uncertainty of income tax receipts from sale of capital assets—largely represented by stock exchange profits—necessitated adoption of the temporary plan. Last year a gain of more than two billions was reported in profits from capital assets.

With the Hawley resolution providing a one per cent reduction on both corporation and normal individual income tax returns, the tax benefit will be widely distributed, he said. The small taxpayer, who pays on earned income, will share the reduction.

Reasons for Limited Revision.

The reasons for the limited revision are not far to seek," Mills said. "The estimated surplus for the fiscal years 1930 and 1931 does not indicate a very large margin of safety in budgets of over $400,000,000, but the tax reduction of $160,000,000 which will result from the enactment of this bill, is divided approximately equally between the two fiscal years. Looked at from this standpoint, the margin of safety is reasonably adequate."

The treasury department feels, therefore, that the taxpayers should receive the benefit of these prospective surpluses in the form of tax reduction. This is all the more desirable since both budgets make ample provision for retirement of our national debt in accordance with our reestablished policy. The estimated expenditures for 1930 and 1931 include, respectively, $630,000,000 and $635,000,000 for debt retirement chargeable against ordinary surplus."

Ohio River Partly Frozen; Trade Light

The Ohio river is frozen half way across between here and Pittsburgh, officials at lock No. 8 said today.

River trade was light today, with two packets and two towboats passing through the locks. They were the Liberty, Wheeling to Pittsburgh; the Senator Cordill, Pittsburgh to Cincinnati; the A. O. Ackard, Steubenville to Pittsburgh, with five empty barges and one barge of scraps, and the Sam Craig, Memphis to Pittsburgh, with nine empty barges.

VARE MAKES PERSONAL PLEA

Lame and Ill, He Appears on Senate Floor.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Barred at the door for nearly three years and still denied a seat, Senator-elect William S. Vare (R) of Pennsylvania, this afternoon took over the leadership of his battle for a senatorial toga and personally pleaded with the senate to seat him on the strength of his 1926 victory.

The veteran Philadelphia politician, lame and ill from a paralytic attack, made a dramatic appearance in the body, which denied him the oath in March, 1927, and which is now prepared to declare him ineligible for senate membership. He went upon the floor of the senate under a rule of courtesy and he pleaded for the right to remain as a member.

Vare challenged the constitutional power of the senate to deny him his seat, declaring his victory in the 1926 election was free of fraud and corruption. If he is to be excluded because of excessive expenditures in his primary, he added, then a dozen other members of the senate were under the same cloud, since they spent more money than he per vote, per precinct and per capita.

"There are senators sitting in this floor," he charged, "whose elections last November cost more per vote, more per capita and more per voting district than the expenditures for the Vare-Beldie-man ticket in the Pennsylvania primary of 1926."

Rev. R. C. Beechley In Boyce Pulpit

The Rev. R. C. Beechley, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, spoke at evangelistic services in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church last night. The meetings are being held by the Epworth league in observance of "Win My Church" week.

Speaking on the "Sands of Error" the Rev. Mr. Beechley told the parable of the two builders found in the Sermon on the Mount.

"One man built his house on the sand and the wind and floods came and beat upon him, destroying it and all that was in it," he said, "But the wise man built his house on the solid rock and it withstood the storms and floods and was safe."

"We are always building, especially the young people. Are we building on the sand or rock?"

BUDGET SLASH RECOMMENDED BY PRESIDENT

White House Calls for $3,830,445,231 Appropriation.

$146,000,000 CUT

Total Expenditures Are Estimated at $4,102,938,700.

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—President Hoover's first budget, presented to Congress today, called for appropriations of $3,830,445,231 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, a reduction of $146,000,000 from the 1930 budget submitted by former president Coolidge.

The budget however, contained no amount for the revolving loan fund for the federal farm board, for which $150,000,000 was placed in the 1930 budget. For comparative purposes the sum should be deducted from the 1930 budget, placing its total slightly lower.

After a two-hour session, the committee voted the bill out favorably and it will come up tomorrow on the floor.

Never before was such speed displayed on a measure of such importance as the committee showed in considering this tax cut. There was only one dissenting vote in the committee. It was cast by Representative Ramseyer (R.) of Iowa.

Total expenditures for the year, including retirement of the public debt and other items not included in the budget, were estimated at $4,102,938,700, an increase of $73,257,000 over estimates for 1930, and $254,000,000 over actual expenditures for 1929.

Receipts were estimated at $1,225,727,000, a loss of $24,000,000 from 1930, and a gain of $192,000,000 over 1929.

This would provide an anticipated surplus of $122,758,966 for June 30, 1931, and $225,581,534 for 1930, as compared with the actual surplus of $154,787,935 for 1929.

Youngstown Steel Merger Hinted

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Possibility of mergers of steel interests with the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, as the backbone, was speculated here today following the partial retirement of James A. Campbell as chief of the company.

Labor Chieftain Is Fatally Burned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—James P. Noonan, international president of the Electrical Worker's union and a vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, died in a hospital here today from burns which he suffered when his apartment caught fire.

Noonan was sleeping in the living room when he was awakened by smoke. Flames were spreading rapidly and before he could reach the door he was burned badly. He died a few hours later.

He was alone in the apartment and none of the other occupants of the building was hurt.

Noonan was a prominent figure in labor circles here.

SOVIET RUSSIA IS PEEVISH OVER U. S. NOTE

'Reminder' on Kellogg Pact Considered 'Not Friendly.'

SHARP REBUKE

Moscow Construes It 'Unwarranted Interference.'

By EDWARD L. DEUSS

MOSCOW, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Aroused at what is considered as unwarranted interference, the Soviet government made no effort today to hide the fact that it considered the "reminder" from the United States of its obligations under the Kellogg pact as "not a friendly act."

Following the sharp note of rebuke dispatched to the United States through the French ambassador, the Soviet press today backed up the government in declaring that the United States had taken unwarranted action in attempting to put teeth into the anti-war pact just when peace negotiations between Russian and Chinese delegates at Khabarovsk had reached a stage of virtual settlement.

The Soviet note waved aside the appeal from the United States government as an "unjustifiable attempt to influence the Khabarovsk negotiations between Mukden and Soviet officials."

It was addressed to England and France as well as to the United States but contained an appendix which indicated that Soviet indignation was directed primarily against the country which took the lead in bringing the terms of the Kellogg pact to the attention of Russia.

Washington Astonished.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Astonishment mingled with some resentment marked the state department's perusal of Moscow press dispatches containing Soviet Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff's "rebuttal" to the powers, and particularly to Secretary of State Stimson, for "meddling" in the Sino-Russian dispute.

Stimson deferred formal comment until receipt of the Moscow note which, it is assumed here, is being transmitted through the French. It was through this channel that the American reminder to Russia, that she was a signatory to the Kellogg pact, was sent.

The general impression at the state department in the absence of a statement by Stimson, was that whatever chance the Soviet government had for early recognition by the Hoover administration has gone "aglimmering."

'Diplomatic Defeat,' Berlin Says.

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—(INS).—The opinion that the United States suffered a "diplomatic defeat" by its attempted intervention in the conflict between China and Russia was expressed by the Lokai Anzeiger, Nationalist newspaper, here today.

The newspaper charges the answer made by the Soviet government to Stimson's note of intervention "reveals the failure of the League of Nations and the Kellogg Pact."

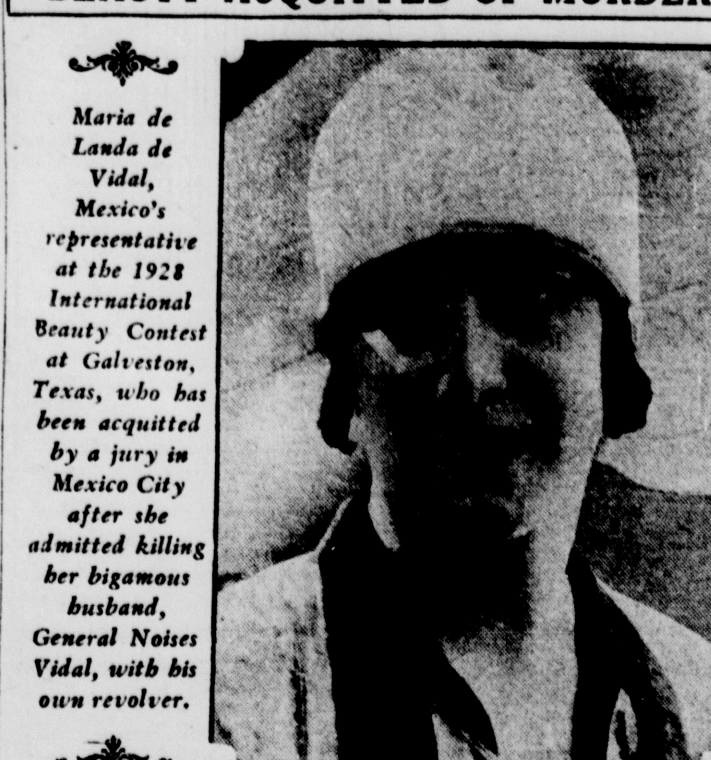

Hospital Board Election Jan. 6

Seven trustees of the East Liverpool hospital will be selected on Monday, January 6, five by the association and two by the hospital staff of physicians.

Members of the board, whose terms expire January 1, 1930, are: Joseph Beitz, T. H. Wilkinson, Patrick McNicol, R. G. Thompson, D. S. Brookman, Dr. W. A. Hobbs and Dr. George E. Lewis. The two physician members are elected by the doctors.

New members of the board will be elected for three years. The election will be held at the hospital between 7 and 9 p. m.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 4.

James M. Smith, president of the Shenango Pottery company of New Castle, Pa., was elected first vice president of the United States Potters' association, succeeding the late William Burgess, of Trenton, N. J., at the closing session today of the fifty-first annual convention.

F. H. Sebring, Jr., on Board

Smith, who is the largest manufacturer of chinaware in the United States, was formerly third vice president. Burgess, a former member of the United States tariff commission, was first vice president for many years prior to his death.

Earl R. Crooks, assistant manager of the Crooksville China company, of Crooksville, O., was elected president, succeeding Malcolm Thompson, secretary-treasurer of the Hall China company of East Liverpool. Homer J. Taylor, of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company, East Liverpool, which recently entered the American China ware corporation merger, was named second vice president, while F. H. Sebring, Jr., of the Salem China company, Salem, was chosen third vice president.

G. C. Thompson Toastmaster.

George C. Thompson, head of the C. C. Thompson Pottery Company, East Liverpool, will be toastmaster of the convention banquet which will be held in the Hollenden hotel tonight. About 125 manufacturers and friends are expected to attend.

Another move for tariff relief may be made by the manufacturers, co-operating with the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters. The Hawley-Smoot bill which has passed the house provides a slight increase in earthenware and china duties, but the senate recently voted to restore the old schedules.

J. M. Wells, of the Newell, W. Va., submitting the labor committee's report, lauded the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters in the movement for tariff protection and predicted a peaceful wage conference next fall.

Labor Committee's Report.

The labor committee's report follows: "It has been the custom of the former chairman of your labor committee to include in annual reports a general resume of the pottery industry during the year just ending, and occasional prophecies of the future. Your present chairman is not going to attempt to do that in this report for two reasons. First, because he does not feel qualified through general knowledge of the industry outside of his own company, and second, because the president's address with the report of the tariff committee, augmented by discussions from the floor, should cover pretty thoroughly all matters of interest to our organization."

"The labor committee as a whole has been comparatively inactive

Peters Files New Plea For Recount

Attorney J. M. McSweeney Appeals to Election Board as Legal Precaution; Time Limit Expires Tomorrow.

WELLSVILLE, O., Dec. 4.—Attorney J. M. McSweeney, of Wellsville, representing Councilman Charles Peters, today filed a new request with James S. Hilbert, chief deputy of the Columbiana county board of elections, asking for a recount of the vote cast for second ward councilman on November 5, when Peters, on the face of returns, was defeated by John Grafton, Democrat, by one vote.

McSweeney's action is the aftermath of a ruling by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, holding that the incoming council is invested with power to hear the contest, notice of which had already been filed with the election board.

Chief Deputy Hilbert today announced that he was awaiting the text of the ruling which has been forwarded to Prosecuting Attorney John E. Banknecht from Columbus. He declared that if the opinion holds as represented to the effect that council shall count the ballots, it will mark the first time in history that a body other than judicial has been entrusted with such powers.

Another angle to the case is that the incoming council will be composed entirely of the present membership, all Republicans, who will pass upon the qualifications of a Democrat. Peters will have no voice in the proceedings.

LAND PROBLEM IS DECIDED

Tenth Street Strip Belongs to City, Knepper Rules.

Long standing controversy relative to the ownership of a strip of land located at Tenth and Lisbon streets, claimed as the property of Lewis Trotter, was settled last night in an opinion given to council by City Solicitor Raymond Knepper holding that the title was now vested in the city.

Knepper's decision was based on the statute of limitations covering a period of 28 years. He said that Trotter's claim should have been filed seven years ago in order to come within the provision of the law.

The solicitor pointed out that if Trotter wanted to assert his right to the property, now occupied by a scale owned by the firm of Leith and Heckathorne, he had redress in court by process of injunction proceedings.

The street at this point, it was brought out, is 44 feet wide instead of the customary 50 feet. The other six feet, which have been enclosed by Trotter, remains his property, according to the ruling of Knepper which was also approved by members of the street committee named to make an investigation.

Lively discussion took place on the question of placing three additional lights in various sections of the city. Mayor W. L. Fogo stated that he believed the question could be solved if members of the finance committee and the city auditor got together and devised means for providing money for the lights.

Service-Safety Director George B. Imbrie's report showed that 24 arrests had been made during the last month by the police department.

The report of Mayor W. L. Fogo showed that $731.50 had been collected in November.

Suction Alone Is Not Enough.

Because housewives realized that suction alone was not enough for thorough cleaning, the motor-driven brush type cleaner was developed. Powerful suction raises the rug off the floor and to the nozzle. The motor-driven beating brush gently beats and vibrates the rug, freeing all embedded dirt. Sweeping brush action loosens thread, hair and lint. Powerful suction whisks everything into the bag.

Glides Easily Over the Thickest Rugs

The seven position nozzle adjustment gives right position for rugs of any thickness. Neither brush nor nozzle drag on rug. In tests only 8½ lbs. of energy were required to push the Hamilton Beach over the rug. "For several years I suffered with those severe pains in my shoulder, side and knees. Sometimes I could hardly get around the pain was so severe," said Mr. Lamphier Burton, 527 Maple street, East Liverpool, Ohio. "I have had to take laxatives almost constantly. As a result my stomach got in bad condition. I seemed to be tired and worn out most of the time. Often headaches and dizzy spells added to my suffering. Owa-Ton-Na was recommended so highly that I felt possibly it would help me and I wish now I had used it several years ago."

"It has corrected my stomach disorders, my appetite has improved wonderfully and I can sit down and enjoy a good meal without fear of having gas and bloating spells afterwards. Headaches and dizzy spells are gone and my bowels act regularly. Gradually pains started to disappear and although I could hardly believe it at times, I hardly know what an ache or pain is now. Owa-Ton-Na certainly does whip up a sluggish system and restores loss of energy and strength. I gladly recommend it to other sufferers."

You may be younger or older than Mr. Burton but if you suffer in health as he did, if your stomach is often filled with gases, if you always feel tired and grouchy, if your nemo-flex presents a gift package

you'll like it so much you'll want one yourself . . . and what more can be said of a Christmas gift!

. . . What to give . . . something that's different . . . something worth while . . . not a mere gadget to be thrown away after Christmas or preserved to give away next year . . . Here is your answer. This gift package by NEMO-FLEX—a dainty girdle and bandeau set encased in a jewel of a jewel box. The set is of pink satin in sizes to fit the average figure. The box—of red, tipped with gold—has a sliding drawer, a tray. — and is just the think to keep trinkets in.

Be sure to get at least one more than you plan to give away, because — you'll see — you'll want one for yourself.

Chester Aids Plan For Highway Work

Prosecutor W. W. Ingram and Others Plan Appeal to State Commission Friday.

CHESTER, W. Va., Dec. 4.—Delegates from eight river front counties Friday will appeal to the state road commission in Charleston for action looking toward the early completion of the Ohio river highway route No. 2, from Chester to Parkersburg.

Necessity for the improvement will be urged by representatives from Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Marshall, Wetzel, Pleasant, Wood and Tyler counties.

It is pointed out by the road boosters that the highway, when completed, will be one of the most important thoroughfares in West Virginia.

The trek to Charleston looms as an aftermath of a recent session of road men from the eight river front counties, held in Wheeling. Representing Chester, Prosecuting Attorney W. W. Ingram pointed out that "the people along route No. 2 have waited patiently too long."

"With the government encouraging public improvements to stabilize and encourage general construction," he declared, "now is the time to press the need of completion of the river highway." He stressed the importance of the road to the communities through which it passed.

Ray of Tariff Hope

There is a ray of hope for the American pottery industry in President Hoover's reference to the tariff question in his first annual message to congress yesterday, in which he gave an account of his stewardship for nine months.

After declaring that the most serious issue before the American people today is the steady growth of lawlessness, for which he scored the so-called "good citizen" who condones crime or who is indifferent to punishment of the criminal, the nation's chief magistrate reiterated his desire for a tariff beneficial primarily to agriculture and to "sick industries." And he added that he wanted the flexible provision maintained in the law.

Citizens of the East Liverpool district, as well as those in other pottery towns, know that the ceramic industry, which is fighting for existence at home, is on the "sick list."

The American potteries, which pay a living wage to employees, cannot compete in the domestic market with foreign-made ceramic products unless congress safeguards them against cheap European labor.

The new congress should comply with the wishes of the nation's leader in speeding action on the Hawley-Smoot bill and thus do its bit in stabilizing business conditions in 1930.

An Ambitious Project

American construction interests are about to begin the most ambitious program for the building of heavier-than-air machines yet attempted in this country or in the world.

Dr. William Whitney Christmas, vice-president of the General Development company, of Connecticut, announces that his organization will at once begin construction of four huge planes costing $2,000,000 each. These craft will dwarf any now in existence and will be comparable only to ocean liners in fittings and accommodations.

The great air liners, which will have a wing spread of 262 feet and be powered by eight chemically-cooled motors, will be capable of carrying 205 passengers, in addition to their crews and many tons of mail and freight. Competition with the railroads on long-distance hauls is contemplated. The crew will consist of a master, a radio operator, two pilots, a parser, two engineers, two stewards, eight cooks, pantriesmen, and waiters. The maximum load will be approximately 230 persons.

The new airplanes, which will be monoplanes of the "flying wing" type, will have cabin accommodations in their wings with transparent material set into their forward edges similar to that used in the big plane for overland travel recently turned out by the Germans. This feature makes it possible for passengers to enjoy the same view as that to be had from the control cabin. There will be additional quarters for passengers in two outriggers extending forward to house the motors and backward to support the tail group.

If the operation of aircraft thus equipped and capable of carrying as many passengers as the average passenger train proves mechanically feasible and financially profitable it is not hard to foresee that they will multiply rapidly and prove serious competition to the railroads for the patronage of those who like to travel rapidly, whether to gain the advantage of the time saved, or merely for the sake of experience.

Increasing numbers of planes of such huge dimensions will show that the greater number of present-day airports are inadequate. Congestion comparable to that of the highways will develop. Airport dimensions will have to be liberalized to accommodate scores of flying railroad trains.

Pioneers of Fashion

A letter printed in The New York Times may prove highly significant. It is written by a retail merchant, who explains that he has eight stores and a daughter; by watching the buying tastes of the daughter, he has reached certain conclusions about what is wrong with his stores.

The daughter, he says, went to four stores and at each sought a becoming dress. At each she selected four dresses, had them changed and sent home for her husband's approval. It was not forthcoming and the dresses were sent back. She finally gave up, bought goods by the yard and employed a dressmaker to make her dresses.

The retailers were helpless. They could not please her because they had to take what the manufacturers were producing. The manufacturers' designers all look to Paris for inspiration and at least one American woman was not suited with the French dictates. This retailer, therefore, suggests that the manufacturers and the members of his profession get together and try to give customers what they want regardless of fashion.

The letter is interesting because it suggests the beginning of a revolt against adherence to Parisian ideas. It strikes an unhappy note for the retailers, who realize what would happen should there be a real buyers' strike. It is probable that the reluctance of some women to accept the latest decree has already hampered business to some extent.

The time may come when America will decide what American women will wear instead of forcing it to absorb style designed for Frenchwomen on the other side of the Atlantic.

Mexico has elected a good man to the presidency. Now the problem is to keep him alive until he can do something.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 4.—The recent suicide of a woman in Washington because of worry over what she regarded as stock market losses strongly emphasizes the importance of President Hoover's rapid strokes in restoration of confidence throughout the country and, in all probability, forestalling a period of serious depression. The unfortunate suicide also comes near to raising a doubt as to the generally accepted belief that man is a reasoning creature.

The facts in the matter appear to be that this woman had been operating in the stock market for some time. She had been successful and had made good profits on which she had realized the cash. But she continued her operations on a substantial scale and was heavily involved at the time the big crash came. Her anticipated profits were wiped out. In her grief she committed suicide, in spite of the fact that she still had $60,000 in cash—what many people would regard as a tidy fortune.

It was a matter of pure psychology. The same things of mania touched the whole country for a spell. Will Rogers, the noted commentator on current events, reported on one of the bad days that men were standing in line on the higher floors of Wall Street skyscrapers awaiting their turn to leap out of the windows. Figuratively that was what the whole country was doing until the president brought them to their senses. Indeed, the press of the country has been noting suicides from many cities, all blamed on the stock market. And yet, on an average, the traders in the market were in the same position as the woman who died by her own act, although she was $60,000 ahead of the game.

Here is the point. A comparison of the prices of stocks which were chiefly traded in on the exchange shows that for the year, taken as a whole, they show an increase. Persons who bought early this year or in 1928 still have a profit in spite of the crash. Actually in reasonable terms of financial investment, there has been no crash at all. It is very largely imaginary.

By the same token times are not hard. It is conceivable that they would have been had not the president stepped in and called the heads of industry as witnesses before the whole country to show that the business of the nation had not gone on the rocks but was carrying on at a steady and productive pace. Corporate profits for the year will be billions ahead.

There are many individual cases in which men find business bad for the time being. There may be many reasons for that, such as, for instance, as bad management on the part of the business man telling his tale of woe. It is a part of the native caution and self-defense of most men to say business is bad, that they are practically mendicants. That is done partly to stave off applications for loans or to arouse sympathy which may bring them business. A minority of business men are boasters; usually it is the other way around save when they are writing prospectuses for the promotion of new companies or selling doubtful stock in which case they let themselves go in the matter of glowing terms.

These terms usually relate to prospective profits, however. The man making present profits or holding his own will usually say that business is just terrible. That, too, is psychological. When newspaper reporters meet them almost always say: "Anything doing?" And although there may be half a dozen local murders, several big fires, a railway disaster or two, a declaration of war, a terrific battle, or the fall of a dozen European cabinets, the answer is pretty sure to be: "Not a thing."

The same rule applies in the matter of unemployment. Unemployment, like the poor, is always with us. The United States is better off today than any other country in the world. There is some unemployment as there always is in the winter time. A large part of it is made up of men who do not want jobs and could not be induced to take any that did not fit in with their whims, yet these men are counted to swell the number and make the picture look all black. The unemployed gravitate to the cities where they are most conspicuous and one man out of work is always more conspicuous than twenty who are hammering away for good wages.

Perhaps the best comparison for the country as a whole is with that of an individual soldier or a small group of soldiers taking their part in an important war. They may occupy a relatively small part of a far-flung battle line. Opposed to them are shock troops. Our soldiers are pressed back and back with many dead, many bitterly wounded, all utterly discouraged. Ask any of them how the war is going and they will answer in the light of their individual knowledge. They will tell you that nothing but disaster confronts them, that the war is lost. That is necessarily their view from experience and their present position. Yet the rest of the battle front has held its own magnificently and, moreover, made tremendous gains. Taken as a whole the war is being won.

Questions and Answers.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Q. When was porcelain first used for teeth? A. H. A. The use of porcelain as a material for artificial teeth was first proposed by Fauchard in 1728 but the manufacture was first actually begun by Duchateau, a French chemist, between 1774 and 1776.

Q. Are there active volcanoes on the moon? Z. McL.

A. It is not known that there are active volcanoes on the moon. The surface of the moon shows a great number of so-called craters. No universal agreement has as yet been reached to explain the existence of these craters. If they are of volcanic origin, the activity which occurred on the moon must have enormously surpassed anything known on the earth. In view of the fact that there are no lava flows, and that in most cases the material around a crater would not fill it, the volcanic theory of their origin has not been universally accepted.

Q. How many American Negroes have gone to Liberia to live? A. L. A. Liberia has a total population of 2,000,000, all Negroes and including about 20,000 Afro-Americans. English is the official language.

A watch case made entirely of glass, with the works showing through, and a black band encircling it on which the radium numbers are painted is an evening wear novelty seen here in the leading industrial city of the mountain region—Denver. This watch is suitable for evening wear. The corners are decorated with gold protective tips. An expanding wrist strap adds to the attractiveness of the timepiece. The strap is "different," too. It adjusts its length like a leather strap made to fit any pretty cold in this beautiful city—merely slipped over the wrist like any other expanding strap. It proposes concrete action and is a but oh, the air! I like Denver! Copyright, 1929, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

When you are to eat cakes and sausages, limit your consumption of other carbohydrates and fats. The starch of the flour, the fat of the meat and the sugar of the syrup supply all the heat and energy you need. Fruit, raw or cooked, is about all you require to balance the breakfast.

In cold weather the heating foods are essential to comfort. The person seeking the sterilized form by excessive reduction in starches and other foods having similar effect will be cold and shivery, lacking in energy. This sort of dieting is a mistake.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—That unspeakable male horror known as the glee has almost disappeared from Broadway's shifting sands. Buckling up of the night clubs and cabarets along with the blasts of unwholesome publicity caused his undoing. Scarcely a handful is left.

The glee was spawned in war time Paris when real men were at the front. He was the sleek dandy with glossy hair and expert social graces who helped relieve the monotony of lonely women by dancing for so much a dance. In those days he was not vicious, but more the amiable moocher with a gift for evening clothes.

They were in the majority of instances cast-off sons of respectable Latin-American families, and with the armistice they began to drift to America. They found New York a cold mine and became greedy and rapacious. Hundreds of them lived off women who to the world appeared happily married.

The middle aged and wealthy wives whose husbands were absorbed by business were the glee's special targets. They escorted them to teas, lunches and the night clubs. Aside from being "dive dancers," they were gallant hand kissers and adept at whispered nothings.

The glee would like to be known that he was the son of some demigod Argentine coffee king or such. He was reared in luxury and how could he make a living? He must live and so he danced "professionally." And along came the lingo craze and he rode the top wave.

Ordinarily straight-laced ladies were charmed by his dancing and personable air. They began, chiefly in a spirit of sympathy, to give him platinum watches and chains, ruby cuff links and pearl studs. Then he would find mystifying bills in his mail. In the end he attained the pinnacle of villainy—blackmailing.

For a time there were white-haired grandmothers being snatched about by gies. Two wealthy women of some social standing—one 61 and the other 73—indeed married gies and now live in European seclusion. But a public's scorn finally triumphed and the glee's jig was up.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

City dwellers miss much of the charm of neighborliness that prevails in rural sections. No so much now, I fear, but in olden days, when life was so much simpler, to enjoy a big meal unless a "taste" of it could be had by the closest neighbors. As a boy, my heart was made glad on many occasions by the bit of ice cream, piece of pie, or helping of plum pudding, that some proud cook in a nearby home desired to have sampled by her friends.

There was a time-honored custom in Pennsylvania, the making of what was called "metzelsoup." I assume this word was a corruption of "Metzelsuppe," derived from "metzen," which means to kill and cut into pieces, applied particularly to sausage meat.

When the farmer butchered his hogs and the sausage was made, the housewife sent a plate containing several pounds of the delicious product to each of her intimate friends. This was called metzel soup and it was a gift which was followed by a return of the neighborly kindness when butchering day arrived at the home of the recipient.

Not to return the gift was a serious breach of hospitality. Indeed, the minister was told of the oversight and proceeded at once to reconcile the estranged friends. That was one of his duties and I dare say he approached the metzel soup season with considerable apprehension.

There is a certain prejudice in some quarters against the pork products. But for those who eat pork, the sausage has great popularity. As the season for buckwheat cakes and sausages approaches it is well to warn against their abuse and at the same time to commend their virtues when consumed in reasonable quantities. These splendid foods are like all other foods—taken in moderation and in proper combination they are most desirable.

When you are to eat cakes and sausages, limit your consumption of other carbohydrates and fats. The starch of the flour, the fat of the meat and the sugar of the syrup supply all the heat and energy you need. Fruit, raw or cooked, is about all you require to balance the breakfast.

In cold weather the heating foods are essential to comfort. The person seeking the sterilized form by excessive reduction in starches and other foods having similar effect will be cold and shivery, lacking in energy. This sort of dieting is a mistake.

Centralizing Service.

President Hoover has moved to reorganize the federal government. The proposal has been for ten years discussed by publicists, citizens, the press, and by representatives in congress. But nothing much was accomplished.

Gratifyingly the president now should insure to the benefit of first step has given his approval to a plan to consolidate all the agencies dealing with war veterans and their dependents. He will ask the congress at the opening of the regular session to give its sanction to this plan, which will centralize a great service and assist to give imperative needed aid to the soldiers of the republic who so sadly and swiftly are dying off, without that full measure of care, which is their due at the hands of the government.

The consolidation of these agencies not only will represent a vast saving in money to the government, but will enable an unhampered and concentrated service in the interest of the nation's war veterans and their dependents, which at present remains vitiated by red tape, diversified administration and the complex functioning of bureaus, boards and what not.

The savings of millions of dollars by such centralizing of service, who owns the air?

The men who fought and served in the war—those of them who still live, and to that of their dependents while they continue to live.

The setting up of a new single agency under a director reporting directly to the president, is a suggestion in line with good business sense and in harmony with the dictates of a sympathetic and understanding humanity.

Like all of the president's constructive moves to better the condition of the nation and of its people, the present indicates a statesmanlike grasp of executive duty not too often evident. If congress will work in harmony with President Hoover in this matter it will be entitled to a consideration and respect not too often accorded to it in these days.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Who Owns the Air?

When congress enacted the radio law it specifically declared that ownership of the air should rest with the public.

This declaration has been challenged by Station WGY of Schenectady, New York, owned by the General Electric company, and the United States supreme court is now studying the case.

WGY bases its claim to property right on priority in use of its channel, expenditure of large sums for equipment, and in its public service. It objects to curtailment of its broadcasting time, and claims that the fifth amendment to the constitution has been violated.

The lower court decided that the commission had erred in not granting the station the full time it had previously enjoyed.

The commission, in a brief justified, asserts that the supreme court can not uphold WGY without declaring the radio act unconstitutional, and contends that it has done nothing more than to carry out the mandate of congress.

The suit raises a point which is of great public interest. Presumably the supreme court might hold that broadcasting stations have acquired rights in the channels they have been using. This would mean the passing of the public ownership of the ether.

Such a development would be a public calamity.—Columbus Citizen.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my late teens and have been going with a young man for about four years. We have gone together very steadily, as almost every place one of us goes the other is there too. We both think a whole lot of each other. During the Summer we went to a young people's institute and ran around with other friends and had a delightful time.

Since we came home he has seemed different in some way or other, although he seems to care as much for me as ever. We have never deceived each other. Since we came home except the night another girl and I were out walking and after a while we went out riding with a boy friend. I told my friend about it as soon as I saw him and he seems much different. He is so cold toward me at certain times.

Please tell me how to get him to be the same old friend all the time as I simply can't give him up. He is more to me than any other person in the world except my mother. We have gotten along fine until the last week. Don't say to give him up, for I cannot.

DISAPPOINTED.

DISAPPOINTED: I think that your friend should appreciate your candor in telling him of your outing. Have a serious talk with him. Surely it would be a pity to break up such a pleasant and worthwhile friendship for such a trivial reason. If there is not a definite understanding, your friend is extremely selfish to expect so many years of your life to be dedicated solely to him.

GOLD DIGGERS of BROADWAY

Scene from "Gold Diggers of Broadway"—A Warner Bros. Production.

Now showing at the American.

The Theaters

Stage Celebrities In "Gold Diggers"

Larry Ceballos, the famous dance and musical revue director, staged the spectacular dance ensemble in "Gold Diggers of Broadway," Warner Bros. and Vitaphone 100 percent natural color, singing, talking, dancing special, now showing at the American theater.

Ceballos started his career in London, but came to New York, and staged shows for such producers as Irving Berlin, George White, Florenz Ziegfeld and others. At present he is under exclusive contract to create and direct the musical revues at Warner Bros. theater in Hollywood.

In the cast of "Gold Diggers of Broadway" are Nancy Welford, Winnie Lightner, Ann Pennington, Lilyan Tashman, Nick Lucas, Helen Foster and Gertrude Short, many of whom, oddly enough, he has directed on the stage in New York. Other principals are Canway Tearle, William Bakewell, Albert Gran, Neely Edwards and Armand Kaliz and there is a dazzling beauty chorus of 100.

Helen Kane Has Role in "Sweetie"

Lipsing its first little baby lip in a west coast studio, the voice of Helen Kane, which is generously punctuated with "hoop hoop doops," recently finished its work in "Sweetie," Paramount's musical romance of campus life, which is the current attraction at the Ceramic theater.

The "mike," which had just finished registering some lusty college yells for the same picture, almost cracked with contraction when it started to vibrate to the tiny, cuddly tones of Miss Kane. The picture, for which George Marion, Jr., wrote the story, lyrics and dialog and Richard A. Whiting wrote the music, was directed by Frank Tuttle.

Youthful Players In "Fast Life" Cast

Youthful marriage, kept secret from a fast set of young folk at a real "whoopie" party, gives a break-neck start to "Fast Life," the First National Vitaphone drama coming to the State theater Thursday.

It gives such a start, in fact, that the young lovers, enacted by Loretta Young and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., are nearly carried to their doom on the impetus. The film play, like its stage original by Samuel Shipman and John Hymer, is filled with thrills, having situations, warm human interest and withal some excellent drama.

Chester Morris, the boy who made such a hit in "Alibi," is also featured in the cast. He has the same part he played on the stage. Ray Hallor, Frank Sheridan, William Holden and many other noted players form the all-star cast. John Francis Dillon directed the picture.

American Books "The Virginian"

Audiences at the American theater will have opportunity next week to learn whether preview critics were correct when they said that "The Virginian" is "The Covered Wagon" of all-talking pictures. The Owen Wister classic of pioneer days on the Western cattle ranges has all the earmarks of an epic film. The manner in which it was acclaimed by previewers indicates that it will go high on the list of really greats.

The film, based on the novel by Owen Wister which brought him quick fame in the 80's, and which has since been termed the greatest American romance, enjoys the distinction of being the first all-outdoors play to be recorded on the audible films.

But its greatest claim to all-time honors lies in its general perfection in every department. There is a great cast—Gary Cooper, Walter Huston, Richard Arlen, Mary Brian, Eugene Pallette, Chester Conklin, E. H. Calvert, Helen Ware—a superb group of artists who have proved their worth on the stage and the talking screen. There is masterful direction, by Victor Fleming, a genius in his art. There are gorgeous settings—the real out-of-doors of the pine-dotted cattle ranges of the old West. There is tense drama, rich romance, rollicking humor—and the theme is one which deals with an exact chapter in American pioneer days.

Two Die, One Hurt In Auto Accident

CLEVELAND, Dec. 4.—(INS)—A mysterious accident today had claimed the lives of two persons and injured another.

The trio were found by police sitting in the front seat of a car smashed against a traffic signal post. Norman Smith, 25, and an unidentified girl, about 19, were dead, and William Bronstrup, 23, had suffered a broken jaw. Bronstrup refused to discuss the accident or to reveal the name of the dead girl. The motor of the machine was rammed clear through the front seat of the car, crushing Smith and the girl.

Ford's Railroad Is Fined $25,000

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Henry Ford's railroad, the Detroit, Toledo and Kenton Railway company, today had been fined $25,000 by Federal Judge Benson W. Hough after the railroad officials entered pleas of guilty to 25 counts in an indictment alleging that shipments of coal had been made over this railroad at unlawful rates. Judge Hough assessed a fine of $1,000 for each count.

STUDENT DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Leigh Bunting, 18,
Toledo Accident
Victim.

LISBON, O., Dec. 4.—Leigh Bunting, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bunting, of Toledo, formerly of Lisbon, was killed in an automobile accident while returning to his home from Ohio State university, friends were advised today.

Thomas Martin, 21, also of Toledo, was also killed in the accident, which occurred when the roadster in which they were riding struck a pole, careened across the street and turned over twice. Two young women who were in the car escaped with but slight injuries.

W. H. Bunting is vice president and general manager of the Bunting Brass & Bronze company, of Toledo.

GEORGIA LITTLE ASKS ALIMONY

LISBON, O., Dec. 4.—John G. Little, who owns a one-fifth interest in the Little building on the Diamond in East Liverpool, has been sued for alimony by his wife, Georgia Little. The case will be heard Friday morning at 9 o'clock, by Judge Lones.

The Littles were married in Derry, Pa., on June 20, 1907, and their son, Bennett, is now 19 years old.

In 1914, she says, he agreed that he would pay her $45 a month alimony, and would support the son and educate him, but she charges that he failed to do it.

JURY WILL FIX VALUE OF LAND

LISBON, O., Dec. 4.—The jury which will fix the compensation to be paid to Mrs. Matilda Calvin of Middleton township, for the acre or more of land taken from the old Calvin farm by the county commissioners for the improvement of the East Liverpool-East Palestine road, viewed the property yesterday.

The jury will be asked to fix the amount of compensation to be paid by the county. In the fall of 1927, when the improvement of the highway was first considered, the valuation of the land was fixed at $312. Mrs. Matilda Calvin refused to accept the amount, and filed an appeal in the probate court.

$5,811 NURSING CLAIM SETTLED

LISBON, O., Dec. 4.—A settlement was agreed upon in common pleas court in the case filed some time ago by Alva M. Beavan against Arthur Bloor and D. Elmer Wolfe, as executors of the estate of the late James G. Cowan of East Liverpool. The plaintiff sued to recover $5,811.85 for nursing services.

Agrees to Leave State.
LISBON, O., Dec. 4.—Frank Stevens, of East Liverpool, pleaded guilty before Judge Riddle to a charge of non-support and was sentenced to a year in the Canton workhouse. The sentence was suspended providing he leave the state, which he agreed to do.

Woman Faces Delinquency Charge.
LISBON, O., Dec. 4.—Mrs. Vada Pickering of East Liverpool, arraigned before Judge Lodge Riddle yesterday on a charge of contributing toward the delinquency of her three minor children, pleaded not guilty. Judge Riddle fixed next Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock as the date for her trial.

HAZEL MITCHELL GIVEN DIVORCE

LISBON, O., Dec. 4.—Charging gross neglect of duty, Mrs. Hazel Mitchell of East Liverpool, was divorced from her husband, Frank Mitchell, by Judge Lones, Tuesday.

The Mitchells were married in New Cumberland, W. Va., on February 28, 1920.

Wins Wife as First Prize!

If you don't think your whole life can be changed by chance, read this. It is the story of a young man who was pretty well down and out, but he figured he might win a prize if he took some advice.

"As far back as I can remember I had been a weakling," says Mr. Calvin L. Floyd of Orlando, Florida. "A headache, it seemed, was to be my life companion. I was always dizzy in the mornings. Nothing I ate seemed good for me. Then I attended a health lecture in a sanatorium and the physician talked on 'faulty elimination.' That was certainly my trouble. One of the patients asked him about Nujol. He recommended it highly. I decided to try one bottle to see if there was anything in what he said about natural lubrication for the human body.

"Long before I had finished the first bottle my 'companion-headache' was gone. No more tired out feeling. I got a real kick out of life now. By the way, I almost forgot to tell you I found a new life companion, too!"

Perfectly simple, wasn't it? Mr. Floyd just learned the normal natural way to get rid of bodily poisons (we all have them) and nature did the rest. Why shouldn't you be well?

Nujol is not a medicine. It contains no drugs. It is effective, so you will be "regular as clock-work." You can buy it at all good drug stores in sealed packages for less than the price of a couple of good cigars.

Begin today. Millions have found that Nujol makes all the difference in the world. Nujol will make you feel fine and you can prove it.

Many a life changed by a message like this one.

FEARING SEPARATION, FATHER KILLS TWO CHILDREN

HALF-CRAZED PARENT SHOTS BOY AND GIRL

Mother and Stepfather Disarm Washington Slayer.

FEIGNS ILLNESS

"I'm Not Sorry," Prisoner Tells Police.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Because their father feared they would be taken away from him, Doris Theresa Humphrey, 6, and her brother, James, 4, were dead today.

Albert Humphrey, 37, the parent, shot them last night. Police found him, half crazed, standing with his mother's arms around him.

Humphrey's mother and stepfather heard the four pistol shots and disarmed him. He did not resist.

"I'm not sorry, if I can't have them no one shall," he told police. He said he had shot himself after killing the children. He was taken to a hospital but no wound could be found. The superintendent declared him a "malingerer" and ordered him sent to Gallinger hospital for observation.

Humphrey was separated from his wife, police said, and feared he would lose custody of both children because of his marital difficulties. He had charge of the boy and the mother had the girl. It was not explained how the girl happened to be with him last night.

Later he said he did not intend to kill the children and had been cracking nuts for them.

"They are with God now, however, and I am satisfied," he said.

Potters Honor Smith

due to this being the off-year when we do not have a regular conference with the executive committee of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters for the adoption of a new agreement. However, it has not been without its interesting moments.

"We had actually only one called meeting of the committee. That was for the purpose of establishing a day-wage rate for casters. This was called upon request of the Sebring Pottery company and the Brotherhood officials, and because of the statements of the Brotherhood spokesmen at the previous Atlantic City conference that the casters would be willing to accept a wage rate on new and different items that would not necessarily net them as much per day as items now covered by the scale.

"The first contention of the Brotherhood at this meeting of February 21st was that their statements at the conference were intended to apply to only such articles as would be suitable for the five and ten cent stores. Your committee was unable to put any such interpretation on the stenographic reports of the conference. The pieces in which the Sebring Pottery company were chiefly interested were mostly pretty large and of an artistic nature. After a very long-drawn-out discussion our final proposition was an hourly rate of 75 cents, and that after 500 dozen of any one piece should be made, there would be an attempt to arrive at a piece work rate for that particular item. This appeared to be satisfactory to the Brotherhood officials, but they asked that the Sebring men be permitted to work under protest at 50 cents an hour for a few days until they could discuss the matter with the casters. Nothing further has ever been done, and, as far as I can discover, both the firm and the men seem to be satisfied to go along on that basis.

Decorating Committee Conference. "The only other meeting of a general character was when the Brotherhood president and our chairman were requested to sit in on a meeting of the unofficial decorating committee, which was attempting to set a price for lining a gadroon edge for the American Chinaware corporation. A price was finally arrived at that was reasonably satisfactory to both sides. During this meeting President Duffy of the Brotherhood repeatedly stated that the officers of their organization believed that a uniform scale for decorating could be established. With the firms outside of East Liverpool definitely refusing to raise wages in the decorating shop, and the employees in the East Liverpool district refusing to take a cut, your labor committee continues to hold a slight doubt about the possibility of a uniform scale.

"During June and July the officials of The Homer Laughlin China company held four meetings with the officers of the Brotherhood and a committee of clay workers to get making prices set on a short line of small items that were being made to compete directly with similar items being imported from Japan. After the smoke of battle had cleared away, we were forced to pay considerably more than we believed was justified by all the circumstances involved. Then it developed in actual operation that in spite of cry of the men that at the prices set they were granting us great concessions, only the casters suffered to the extent of more than a few cents a day, and they earned more than seven dollars for eight hours work.

Homer Laughlin Dispute.

"In respect to its effect on our industry in the future, and particularly our relations with labor, probably the most important agreement effected in some time was the temporary settlement of the difficulties between The Homer Laughlin China Company and the Brotherhood over the installation of conveyors to assist in the placing of glost tunnel kilns. A short history of this controversy might be of interest to our members.

"Early last spring when the purchase of this equipment was first decided upon, the chairman of your committee called on the president and secretary of the Brotherhood to obtain from them a statement as to what their attitude would be toward the use of girls for placing ware in the saggers. They at first suggested the possibility of using regular kilnplacers instead of girls, but after it was explained to them that the large cost of this equipment would be justified only by the difference between the men's wage and the girls' wage, and that their members of all locals would undoubtedly benefit through steadier employment, President Duffy agreed that he would go along in our convincing the matter so that there would be no difficulty with the kilnplacers.

"About the 10th of November, a few days before we were ready to start operation, Mr. Duffy called on us and denied that he had agreed to the employment of women kilnplacers. Argument on that point, of course, got us nowhere.

"We then asked for a meeting with the entire executive board of the Brotherhood. That meeting, I feel sure, resulted in our convincing a majority of their board that the use of women would be to the definite benefit of all their members, with the possible exception of a small number of kilnplacers. However, they would give us no answer until they met with the kilnplacers' local, and they came back from that meeting with the amazing decision that if we started girls to convey the ware they would immediately call out on strike all their men on all our plants.

Kiln Dispute Settlement

"Here we had the spectacle of a body of men, of more than average intelligence, I am sure, elected to manage the affairs of a larger organization, who admitted that the company in its proposed action was in no way violating the agreement between the United States Pottery Association and the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, but, because one local took an utterly unreasonable attitude against it, they would close the company's plants and throw more than 2500 people out of employment. Is it any wonder that the American manufacturer of crockery is rapidly becoming an extinct species when his business is controlled on one side by a handful of radicals in one local, and on the other by about the same number of 'sons of wild jackasses'?"

"Well, they had us stopped, and we were forced to stop all clay shop and bisque kiln operations in the new plant while we struggled with No. 9 for a wage rate for men on the conveyors, that would save us from the poor farm. And if any one of you ever craves to get himself worked up into a helpless rage, I would suggest that he talk wage rates with a committee from No. 9. Just as an indication of their idea of fairness at one stage of the proceedings, they proposed a piece work price that when applied meant an increase of about 10 per cent over the present piece work price for placing and periodic kilns. This, of course, was entirely reasonable because the only differences between the old method and the new were that they would have no saggers to lift, no ware to carry, no wads or pins to get, and no steps to climb.

"However, after two weeks we did finally arrive at a piece work price to apply during a 60-day trial period, and to continue after that period if satisfactory to both sides. This price is $3.00 for placing each glost tunnel kiln car. We have been operating on this basis for only one week with a few men, so have had no opportunity to judge how it will work out in the end.

"I want to say before leaving this subject that throughout the numerous meetings that we had with the Brotherhood officials and the representatives of the kilnmen's local, the Brotherhood officers seemed to appreciate the fairness of the various offers we made, and apparently did their utmost to have the kilnmen accept. The only criticism we desire to make of these men is that they were not sufficiently firm with the kilnmen, and followed instructions instead of giving them."

No Dark Clouds.

"One other settlement that The Homer Laughlin China company made with the packers, covering piece work rates for packing small sets in strawless cartons, may be of some use to other members of our association. The rates we offered, and which were accepted in this case, were exactly the same as the cost had been to us when we had the work done by a crew of girls. Mr. Goodwin will have a copy of these rates for the information of any one who may be interested.

"I want at this time to call the attention of our members to the excellent work that has been, and is being done by our standing committee. The members from our association are Chas. Goodwin, C. H. Walker and Michael Lynch, and they are very generous in their praise of the assistance Mr. McGillivray of the Brotherhood has been in speeding up the work of the committee.

"Also the labor committee desires to express its appreciation of the great amount of hard work that was done by the officers and members of the Brotherhood in assisting us in our attempt to obtain necessary tariff protection. Besides spending a lot of time on this matter themselves, they enlisted the active help of the American Federation of Labor on our

to the Czar and Kerensky, when a baby should have known better.

WISE JAPAN keeps aloof, does not meddle, attends strictly to JAPAN'S BUSINESS.

Those polite gentlemen of the East are not seeking any quarrel with Russia. They know they would have to deal with a Russia different from the one that Japan beat so easily under the Czar.

WHILE Madeline Nolan looked on, one young man who wanted to marry her shot and killed another man who had the same idea. Miss Nolan, gripped, said she had tried her best to keep the young gentlemen apart.

THAT horrifies us now and is hard to understand. It was the commonest thing in the world with our ancestors in the early days. Your great-grandmother 500 times removed, would have thought poorly of any suitor that would not kill another as a casual event in courtship.

In Sing Sing Reuben Karminsky, 17 years old, standing in line with hundreds of other prisoners, was stabbed to death. He would not tell who had stabbed him, did not know he would die. Fear kept his mouth closed.

He is supposed to have been killed for having told of another convict's misconduct.

INSIDE the prison, only a few yards from the electric chair, a man filled with hatred was killed, although detection is probable, and means sure death.

That is an answer to advocates of capital punishment, who think the death chair or the noose is necessary to frighten criminals.

"Not fear, but education, will diminish crime."

THE British have their own ideas of morals and "eternal fitness." Socially, the British have no objection to race white, brown or yellow. But the British censors say that Miss Anna May Wong, young Chinese actress, must not, in public pictures, kiss a young white man, unless she does it gently and coldly. Postively no warmth.

That kind of race mixture the British object to, perhaps because they don't want such pictures exhibited throughout the Empire.

behalf, and, while our case appears rather hopeless at the present time, it cannot be said that they have not done everything within their power. It would be the suggestion of the chairman of your committee that before we adjourn, we pass a motion instructing our secretary to send to the Brotherhood a letter expressing the appreciation of the United States Pottery Association of the assistance they have been in this matter.

"There seem to be no serious clouds threatening the labor situation between our association and the Brotherhood at this time, and, while next year is a conference year, we see no reason at present to anticipate anything but a prompt and peaceable agreement for the following two years."

PASTORS HEAR DR. H. O. WILEY

Nazarene Ministers Open Four-day Session.

Pastors of 40 of the 65 Nazarene churches in the Pittsburgh district are in attendance at the four-day mid-year meeting of ministers, in the Church of the Nazarene, St. Clair and Lincoln avenues, today.

The session opened last night and will close Friday night.

Dr. H. Orton Wiley, Kansas City, Mo., editor of the Herald of Holiness, official organ of the Nazarene church, was the speaker at this morning's service. This afternoon, the Rev. C. J. Forcey, Canton, discussed "Preparing for the Revival." He was followed by the Rev. J. C. Albright, Warren, Pa., whose subject was "Selecting the Evangelist," and the Rev. J. H. Clymer, Oil City, Pa., who discussed "Following the Revival." The Rev. John Knapp, of the Eastern Nazarene college, Boston, will address the convention at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The Rev. Dr. Wiley will be the principal speaker at tonight's service at 7:30 o'clock. He is on his way home after a trip which carried him as far east as the New England states. Special music will be featured tonight.

The Rev. Warren Jones, Allentown, superintendent of the Pittsburgh district, presided at last night's meeting. The congregational singing was led by Edward Patzsch, student at the Eastern Nazarene college. The Rev. Arthur Gould, New Brighton, Pa., sang "My Sins Have Been Taken Away." The choir, directed by Mrs. O. L. Benedum, sang "Make Christ King."

D. A. Hollingsworth Is Dead in Cadiz

CADIZ, O., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Former Congressman D. A. Hollingsworth, 85, a former attorney general of Ohio, is dead at his home here today following a lingering illness.

His death, which occurred at 10:30 o'clock last night, was superinduced by an attack of pneumonia. He was a Civil War veteran.

Hollingsworth served as attorney time he was appointed to fill the vacancy which was made by the resignation of George K. Nash.

Funeral services will be held Friday with burial at Union cemetery here.

C. F. Brooks Funeral.

Funeral services for Charles F. Brooks, 72, who died in his home, 2218 Tuscarawas street, Canton, were held yesterday afternoon in the Carrollton Methodist Episcopal church. Burial was made in Scott's cemetery, Carroll county.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Carrie Brooks; one daughter, Mrs. Frank Williams, North Canton; a son, Anson Brooks, and one sister, Mrs. Ella Tripp, of Carrollton.

Winifred McGowan.

Funeral services for Winifred, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. McGowan, 445 West Eighth street, will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the St. Aloysius Catholic church, in charge of the Rev. Father Thomas E. Walsh. Burial will be made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

Besides her parents, she leaves two brothers and one sister.

Hattie Sue Orr.

Hattie Sue, 15-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Orr, formerly of East Liverpool, and granddaughter of Mrs. Ella Hendrix, 707 West Ninth street, died last night in the home, 265 Oakland Park place, Columbus.

Funeral services will be held there Friday afternoon.

William R. Hancock.

William R. Hancock, 64, died last night in his home, 1012 Locust street, East End, after three weeks' illness.

Mr. Hancock, who had lived here for 30 years, was a member of East Liverpool lodge No. 253, B. P. O. Elks, and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

He leaves three nephews, Earl George and Tracy Hancock, East Liverpool, and two nieces, Mrs. Florence Green, Burbank, Calif., and Mrs. Earl Connell, East Liverpool.

Oil, Sheep Man Goes to Senate

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 4.—

(INS)—Patrick Sullivan, millionaire oil and sheep man of Casper, will leave for Washington, D. C., and the United States senate tomorrow. His appointment to succeed the late Francis E. Warren to the Wyoming senatorship until another successor can be chosen at a special election to be held late next month was announced by Governor Frank C. Emerson last night.

MAN IS FROZEN ON HOME PORCH

Body Found on Farm South of Kensington.

Body of Marko Buturajac, 65, formerly of Midland, who was found frozen on the porch of his farm home in Carroll county about six miles south of Kensington, was buried today in Hanoverton cemetery.

Coroner J. Deckman, Malvern, rendered a verdict of "exposure and a broken hip sustained in a fall."

Buturajac had been dead about three days when found.

Theodore Roknich, 74 Midland avenue, Midland, said to be the owner of the farm where Buturajac's body was found, is in the Carroll county jail at Carrollton, awaiting a hearing before Probate Judge S. Q. Morrow, upon a charge of possessing implements for the manufacture of intoxicating liquors. His arrest by Sheriff John G. Kempthorne, of Carrollton, followed the discovery of 100 gallons of mash and a still in the house occupied by Buturajac.

Midland Girl, 4, Dies From Burns

MIDLAND, Pa., Dec. 4.—Anita, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Castellana, 620 Penn Avenue, Midland, died in the Rochester General hospital today from burns sustained October 28 when her clothing ignited from burning waste paper in the cellar of her home. She leaves her parents and two brothers, Patsy and Leonard, and one sister, Vera.

WEIRTON MEN AWAIT SENTENCE

Pleading guilty to charges of robbery and assault, Edward Kost, 25, and Arnold Taylor, 23, Weirton, indicted Monday at a special jury of the Hancock county grand jury, will be sentenced today by Judge J. Harold Brennan in circuit court at New Cumberland. Miss Marie Redich, 21, Weirton, testified against Kost and Taylor, who were accused of assaulting Jacob Adler, Weirton merchant, and robbing him of $150 last Thursday night.

Vet's Bible Leaf Will Is Probated

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 4.—The will of Corporal Joseph D. Engle, formerly of New Brighton, and a member of Company B, who was killed in action at Chateau Thierry, France, July 15, 1918, which was written on the back leaf of a pocket Bible, has been probated in the office of Register Ben H. Boss in the Beaver county court house here.

The will was signed July 9, 1918, and was witnessed by Ralph Ames and V. Wilkinson, both members of Company B. The Bible containing the will was mailed to Mrs. Etta Frank, Monaca, by a German observation soldier. The soldier's insurance and personal property were left to his mother, according to the document.

Reconstructive Qualities of ORANGE ROOT Again Demonstrated

Mr. P. A. Slown, Elm street, South Parkersburg, W. Va., says: "We do not believe there is another tonic on the market that equals this wonderful ORANGE ROOT Iron & Celery Compound. After having the 'flu', my wife lay in bed 6 long weeks, becoming weaker and weaker each day—on the point of death. We doctored and gave her everything, but nothing helped her till we started her on ORANGE ROOT. From the very first dose she got better, and after giving her 5 bottles and a few of those Golden Nuggets, she got up, and has never felt better or looked better in her life. She has gained over 20 pounds, and is today the picture of health. It is simply wonderful how this ORANGE ROOT built her up after everything else failed to do her any good. Our little Mary, 6 years old had never been in good health; had always been weak, nervous, underweight and without appetite. We gave her 6 bottles, and if you could see her, you are sure you would say she is the very picture of health. She has a rosy tint in her cheeks, eats her little head off, romps and plays all day long and never seems to get tired. All signs of nervousness have left her, and we rejoice that sickness has at last left our little family, and give all the credit to ORANGE ROOT Iron & Celery Compound." This scientific, all-around, strength creating and body building tonic is for sale here by Mathews Medicine Store and at the best druggists everywhere. Insist upon ORANGE ROOT—accept nothing recommended "just a good"—for ORANGE ROOT has no equal.

18 INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 4.—Eighteen indictments, including involuntary manslaughter, felonious assault and battery and several liquor law violations, were returned yesterday by the December term of grand jury. Two cases were ignored.

Michael Pagar, West Main street, Aliquippa, was indicted on charges of operating an automobile while intoxicated and involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of his wife, Mrs. Susan Pagar, in an automobile accident November 24 on the Aliquippa Hill road.

Harry Foltz, Aliquippa, who, it is alleged, attempted to kill his wife by shooting her in the Aliquippa store of the Pittsburgh Mercantile company and then tried to end his own life, was indicted on charges of felonious assault and battery.

These cases will be among the first to be placed before the court next Monday.

Shipments Will be Made From Tanks At Midland.

MIDLAND, Pa., Dec. 4.—Oil and gasoline will be shipped from the Pittsburgh district down stream by the Union Barge line steamers. It was reported today. Immense tanks are being constructed at Midland on the Ohio river, where oil piped from Bayway, N. J., will be stored and eventually transported in tank barges to down river ports, for the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

The Union Barge line recently delivered three tank barges to Midland, which were brought up stream from Baton Rouge, La. The largest of these barges is 275 feet long, 52 feet wide and nine feet deep with a capacity of 600,000 gallons. Two barges are 220 feet long, 38 feet wide and nine feet deep with a capacity of 400,000 gallons each.

BRIDGE CLUB PARTY THURSDAY

MIDLAND, Pa., Dec. 4.—Mrs. W. H. Crawford will entertain members of the C. F. R. Bridge club at her home in Beaver avenue, Thursday night, in honor of her houseguest, Mrs. J. I. McKee, of Shelby, O. Four tables will be in play. Refreshments will be served.

For a SORE throat

A sore throat may be eased by gargling just once, with quarter of a glass of water in which you have dissolved two tablets of Bayer Aspirin. You may have to repeat the treatment for a deep-seated inflammation like tonsillitis, but Bayer Aspirin is the one thing that reduces the infection.

Don't forget this most sensible of all treatments for sore throat. The one which all doctors concede to be effective. And remember its quick relief of neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatism, lumbago and the like. Use it to break-up any cold, or to dispel a headache. It does not depress the heart. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer, manufacturer of monoacetic acid ester of salicylic acid.

WOLLAM WINS CATERPILLAR CLUB PLACE

Former E. Liverpool Man's 'Chute Jump Recognized.

HE'S BALLOONIST Leaped When Huge Bag Was Struck By Lightning.

Carl K. Wollam, formerly of East Liverpool, vice-president and general manager of the Mid-City airport at Darrowville, near Hudson, O., has been enrolled in the exclusive Caterpillar Club, made up of balloonists who have saved their lives by parachute jumps.

Official recognition to the jump which Wollam made during the balloon races in Pittsburgh in May, 1920, was given at a ceremony in Akron. He was awarded pin No. 87 and is one of 134 designated for membership in the organization of aeronauts.

Wollam was piloting the City of Cleveland in the Pittsburgh balloon races with James F. Cooper as his aide when the bag was struck by lightning. Cooper was knocked unconscious and the ship burst into flames.

When the balloon neared the ground he hung over the side with his parachute in place and jumped in a final effort to lighten the bag and save the life of Cooper.

Gliming to the ground he saw the balloon fall on a barn and roll off. Reaching the basket he found Cooper in a semi-conscious state.

The storm was the one in which Walter Morton of Goodyear, and Lieut. Paul Everett, army pilot, were killed, and Ward T. Vanorman, Goodyear pilot, injured.

Wollam is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Wollam, and a brother of Lee Wollam and Mrs. Clint Morley, all of East Liverpool. He has another brother, Walter, draftsman for the Morgan Engineering company, Alliance, and a sister, Mrs. Carl Haffner, also of Alliance.

EPWORTH LEAGUE RALLY FRIDAY

MIDLAND, Pa., Dec. 4.—Delegation of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church, headed by the president, William Eckhart, Jr., are expecting to attend the rally of the Epworth Leagues of the Beaver Valley Friday night in the Methodist Episcopal church, New Brighton.

The Rev. Mr. Mansell, pastor, will lecture on the missionary work. Short musical program will also be presented.

LEGION FORMS DRUM CORPS

MIDLAND, Pa., Dec. 4.—Music committee, George E. Muns, chairman, has been authorized to buy instruments for a drum and bugle corps of 19 men by Midland post No. 481, American Legion.

Ninety-seven members are enrolled in the local post. This number is double the enrollment of December, 1920. The organization was launched in June, 1920, with 15 charter members. Membership drive now under way is open to all ex-service men who possess honorable discharges from service in the United States army.

Personals

MIDLAND, Pa., Dec. 4.—Miss Marie Waschinski, Pittsburgh, visited Monday with Miss Helen Rodlong, Beaver avenue.

Mrs. W. T. Gray, Midland avenue, is guest of friends in Aliquippa.

Mrs. David Samuels has returned to her home in Midland avenue after a two weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Green, Atlantic City, N. J.

Mrs. N. C. Moore, Midland avenue, and Mrs. Ethel Canaday, Seventh street, were East Liverpool, O., visitors yesterday.

Miss Ruth Canaday, Seventh street, who had been ill at her home here for the last two months, has re-entered the Pittsburgh hospital, Pittsburgh, where she will train for nursing.

KERR LINES UP EASTERN SQUAD

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 4.—Coach Andy Kerr today awaited reply from the eleven players invited to join the all-eastern football eleven which engages a team of western stars for harily at San Francisco New Year's day.

Colgate and Pittsburgh each have three on the invited list, while Dartmouth, Harvard, Detroit, Pennsylvania and W and J each one.

Those chosen by Kerr are: Serist, W and J; Booma, Dartmouth, and Donhess, Pittsburgh, ends; Montgomery, Pittsburgh, and Magai, Pennsylvania, guards; Cox, Colgate, center; Yabok, Colgate, Harper, Harvard and Brazil, Detroit, halfbacks and Parkinson, Pittsburgh, fullback.

Kerr's group will be augmented by eleven players to be picked by Dick Heinley, Northwestern coach, from college teams in the middle west.

The eastern squad will assemble at Chicago December 16, practice one day at Northwestern and then proceed to Palo Alto.

The all-western team will be selected from teams west of the Mississippi river, excepting big ten outfits.

RIEGELS NAMED ON ALL-COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Roy Riegels, California captain and center who last year made his famous gridiron dash—in the wrong direction—this year overcame as great a mental handicap as any player has labored under, to end a successful season. He was popular choice for the All-Coast team.

ANOTHER LONG SHOT WINNER

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 4.—For the second consecutive day, the winner of the feature race yesterday at Jefferson park was a long shot, the Arson's stable's Charm winning the Daily States claiming purse. The top number was a sixfurlong sprint for three-year-olds and the winner paid 37.80 to win in the mutuels.

RETAIN INGRAM AS NAVY COACH

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 4.—Retention of William A. (Navy Bill) Ingram to coach the Navy football team next year was announced today by the naval academy.

Wife of Governor's Aide Bars Flying

NATICK, Mass. — William S. Youngerman, lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, may not fly in an airplane until he becomes governor—says Mrs. Youngerman. The lieutenant-governor revealed that he told her plans for visiting a neighboring state to try out a new trimotored, all metal plane, and his wife said: "When you become governor it may be different, but I refuse to be a lieutenant-governor's widow."

"I didn't go by plane," Mr. Youngerman concluded.

A feature of a new concrete church at Dartmouth, Germany, will be a chapel containing a combined altar and font, in which a fountain will continually play.

Before a license to drive an automobile is issued in Natal, South Africa, the applicant must take a practical and comprehensive test with an examining officer beside him in the car.

52-Year Convict Goes Back "Home"

After having spent 52 years of his life behind bleak prison walls in the mid-west, George Ferguson, 77, returned today to what he calls "home"—the equally bleak walls of Auburn prison.

Ferguson was brought here from Plainville, O., in the custody of Parole Officer Roy Hill.

"I'm the happiest man in the world," the old convict told Warden Edgar S. Jennings. "It's home or me."

Years ago Ferguson was sentenced to a term in Auburn for burglary and grand larceny in Queens county. Good behavior won him a parole but another violation of the law soon landed him behind the walls of Joliet prison. Several days ago he was released from Joliet. Disconsolate, he wandered about helpless and unable to work. He had lost all connections with the outside world. When he reached Auburn he broke his Auburn parole and immediately wired prison officials to come after him.

Witnesses Testify In Arnolds' Trial

WOOSTER, O., Dec. 4.—(INS)—With a jury of eight men and four women seated, presentation of evidence is under way today in the second trial of Elias and Arthur Arnold—64-year-old father and 17-year-old son—who are charged with stealing Melvin Horst, aged 4, of Orrville.

Melvin disappeared from the streets of Orrville on the evening of December 27, a year ago. He has not been heard from or seen since, despite one of the greatest searches in the history of the state and the tot is now believed to be dead.

Hamilton County Auto Toll Hits 153

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 3.—(INS)—Hamilton county's automobile toll stood at 153 today following the death of Herman Hellman, 57.

Hellman was struck by a machine as he stepped from the curb in front of his home. The autoist stopped his machine and assisted Hellman into the latter's home. A doctor was called and he said that Hellman was suffering only from shock. The driver left without revealing his name.

Hellman later collapsed and died.

Two Found Dead From Gas Fumes

CINCINNATI, W. Va., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Wheeling's gas toll had mounted to four today when Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Delucas, aged 30 and 37, were both found dead in a room where a gas stove was burning. Fumes from the gas are held responsible for the deaths.

Two elderly sisters were asphyxiated here November 23.

Attorney Faces Prison Term

PIQUA, O., Dec. 4.—(INS)—William H. Valentine, local attorney, faces a one-to-seven year term in the Ohio penitentiary today, following his conviction of embezzling $380 from a firm for which he was making a collection.

More about "The Lady Lies."

Cast includes Walter Huston, Chas. Ruggles (who played the Drunk character in Gentlemen of the Press) also Claudette Colbert plus two exceptionally clever kids.

The Lady Lies comes within the classification of adult entertainment. We recommend it as such.

Warner Bros. seem to have the "edge" on the other picture producers with regards to color photography. According to reports these wise boys have secured the rights for a length of time on the Technicolor process—conceded to be the best to date. Witness "Gold Diggers of Broadway."

"Fast Life" is NOT just another film dealing with the flappers and the young set—but is a drama of great strength that carries a powerful punch. Chester Morris that brilliant male lead in "ALIBI" has one of the important roles.

HERMAN SEEKS KNOCKOUT WIN

Irish and Pitt Put Two Men On Mythical Eleven

Walsh Puts Strong Line in Front of Flashy Backfield; Donchess Preferred Over Fesler For End Berth.

Position	First Team	Second Team
End	Tanner, Minn.	Tappan, U. S. C.
Tackle	Ackerman, St. Mary's	Twomey, Notre Dame
Guard	Montgomery, Pitt	Sington, Ala.
Center	Ticknor, Harvard	Heinecke, Stanford
Guard	Cannon, Notre Dame	Schwartz, Calif.
Tackle	Sleight, Purdue	Hammon, So. Meth.
End	Donchess, Pitt	Fesler, O. State
Quarterback	Carideo, Notre Dame	Brazil, Detroit
Halfback	Banker, Tulane	Welch, Purdue
Fullback	Cagle, Army	Parkinson, Pitt
	Pomeroy, Utah	Nagurski, Minn.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Only one claim is made for the above selection and that claim offers no token to infallibility. It merely contends that, while the eleven men named for the first team may or may not be the eleven best in the land, nobody is going to drive up in a hearse and tell me where and how and why it can be beaten.

"Naturals" of Season.

For it can't. You simply don't win from a ball team that has Montgomery, Ticknor, Cannon, Sleight and Donchess in the forward line and Carideo and Cagle in the backfield.

These men are the "naturals" of the football year in their various positions and the selection that does not start with them as the foundation for a first team might do equally well if it began all over again by pulling its names out of a hat. In fact, I venture to say that one could take the seven named, summon four cheer leaders from a nearby sorority house and win all the football games of any given campaign.

Anyhow, the team is mine. I haven't been aided in my deliberations by 534 coaches and correspondents and I must confess that the salesmen of plumb's supplies have been virtually no help to me at all. Thus, the modern dodge of anonymity—everybody seems to be skulking behind a line of scrimmage, largely fictitious, in arriving at their conclusions—has been denied me and I glory in the fact. There, he it known to all men by their presents: The writer is not ashamed of this team. He thinks it is a good one.

Few Outstanding Tackles. It, of course, needs a little explanation and it is my plan to oblige everybody by giving as little as possible. I feel that the Montgomery-Ticknor-Cannon-Sleight-Donchess-Carideo-Cagle combination needs none, for one thing. Passing on to the others, they tell me that Ackerman is the best tackle on the Coast and, in a year of indifferent tackle play, that's good enough for me. Out of Sleight and, perhaps Twomey, the rest of the tackles are just a lot of "country" football players—some good, many bad and none great.

They also tell me that Tanner is a better end than Fesler and you simply pay off without further parley when they get that good. Fesler was on the writer's first team last year but is declared to have gone a little to the faffetto during the last three weeks of the 1929 season. This man Schoonover from Arkansas has ridden into overnight fame on a bandwagon. Nobody knows him. Everybody is picking him. I got the same touting on him and, in view of the fact that Arkansas didn't play more than first class opponents all year, I'm giving him a break. He goes on the third team. Tappan was the second best end at U. S. C. before the California game. I don't if he can have become one of the two best in the country in the meantime.

Cagle Great as Ever.

Pomeroy is both a champion sprinter and a combination punter-passer-runner-blocker at Utah. He has been all of these things for several years without recognition. He gets it now. He is declared to be overdue, too, after his years of stardom. It isn't very pleasant, at that, to call these shots over Nagurski, Parkinson, Welch and Brazil and I don't mind admitting that my margin of error in at least two of these cases is far more slight. Meantime, I stick with Cagle. As great as ever he was, he simply spent the season proving what a great back can do without an attacking line.

Marsters? It was all nothing with this candidate, so far as I was concerned, and after recollecting that he hadn't played much more than a half hour against the tough opponents of November, I made it nothing. His injury simply meant that his candidacy neither got the chance to be proved nor disproved. Maybe he would have been a riot in the late season. It is equally possible that he might have been discredited.

This happened to McEver in the Kentucky game. Also to Booth in the Harvard game and to Uansa, of Pitt, against Penn State. In the same way, Leland, of Texas Christian, lost his chance when Southern Methodist stopped him.

Played Full Season.

These men played the full season and, therefore, gambled with their luck. The fact that Marsters didn't have to face this chance hardly qualifies him for the team in my estimation. One might as readily grant the same consideration to Sloan, of Nebraska, who also was injured. But I seem to notice that one doesn't and that either does two.

As for the Holm-Sington combination of Alabama, the two of them can't be as good as the exhorters re making them. Alabama blew itself to a very ordinary season and this couldn't be, if it had an American at guard and full back. Give the average coach a fair like that and he will have a football team, even if he has to invite nine spectators out of the stands.

EDWARDS FACES OPPORTUNITY

Freddie Edwards, Chester welterweight, faces an opportunity to avenge the only defeat of his career and also, possibly, bigger bouts in the Pittsburgh district, when he faces Jackie Herman, Wheeling, the lad who beat him, in the eight-round main bout of the Valley A. C. tomorrow night in the Wellsville city hall auditorium.

Kommell's Lunch rolled up a new high team total in the Liberty "A" duckpin league last night when they won three straight from the Golden Stars. Carry-Maley and C. Kidd all topped the 500 mark for the series.

Despite their loss the Stars remain in first place, a game and a half ahead of the Smith News.

Keystone Printers and Osborne Grocers roll tonight in the "B" loop.

Hopes to Stop Edwards Inside of Five Rounds

Wheeling Welter Books Bout in Pittsburgh Monday; Yarosz and Gilmore in Six-round Semi-final.

PROVIDING an extra sensation in its billing as a battle for the West Virginia state welterweight championship, the Edwards-Herman eight-round scrap at Wellsville tomorrow night also affords the former his golden opportunity of the present winter season.

Jackie Herman, the Wheeling, 147-pounder, handed Freddy Edwards his only defeat in a string of 25 or more bouts when they fought recently in Washington, Pa., and his victory, as well as other triumphs this winter, has earned him an eight-round semi-final with Young Rudy at Motor Square garden, Pittsburgh, next Monday night when Jimmy Belmont, whose last main bout was fought in Wellsville, faces Farmer Joe Cooper, the lad who trimmed the highly touted Buck McTier.

If Edwards can land the punch to stop Herman tomorrow night when the two brawl in the ring at the Wellsville city hall auditorium, he will not only avenge his defeat at the hands of the Wheeling welter but also, possibly, knock Herman out of that Pittsburgh shot.

Hermans Manager Confident. The fact that Mickey McManus, manager of Herman, is figuring on a repeat victory over Edwards, is evident in his booking of Herman in Pittsburgh four days after his Wellsville bout. McManus, apparently, regards the Edwards bout more or less in the light of a workout.

His confidence is indicated best, perhaps, in his wire yesterday to Matchmaker Ray Foutts in request of information regarding the weighing-in process. He said: "I will be very much surprised if Freddy Edwards is able to answer the bell at the start of the sixth round, for Jackie's left, which carries dynamite, is working to perfection."

In other words, Herman expects to end it in the fifth. Now there is no question about the possibility of a knockout end to the bout but the identity of the victim will be very much in doubt until they hoist him through the ropes, because both fighters can hit hard.

Herman is a vicious left-hander. But Edwards socks them with both hands. Edwards' right was supposed to be his most potent weapon until his last bout here when he stopped George Peck of Pittsburgh. Edwards landed with a left swing to the chin that had Peck dazed for a half hour afterward. Both of these men can hit and

FOREST LOVE

By Hazel Livingston

Thrilling Story of Romance of Modern Girl

What Has Gone Before.

Becoming cynical at her mother's wish to have her marry for wealth and social position, Nancy Hollenbeck, young and beautiful, accepts the ardent attentions of Jack Beamer, supposedly an Englishman of noble birth, who is married to a wealthy invalid. On a mountain trip, Nancy, after a passionate but brief courtship, makes a hasty marriage with a handsome ranger, Roger Decatur. Sickenings of the loneliness, with Roger away, she returns home to resume her old life, still keeping her marriage a secret. When Roger, deeply in love with Nancy, comes to take her back, she tells him unless he makes his home in the city she will divorce him, although she realizes her own love for him. After Roger leaves, Nancy continues her clandestine affair with Beamer, whose wife, aware of his philandering, refuses to free him. Louise, Nancy's sister, always second with men, now has a rich, though elderly, suitor. Beamer takes Nancy out to his farm on a jaunt. Mrs. Beamer unexpectedly arrives and Nancy is bundled into the kitchen. Beamer decides to placate his wife to protect his own financial welfare. Nancy, though humiliated, forgives all when he phones. At home Nancy assails her mother for catering to Mr. Lachman, Louise's rich admirer. When Louise, who is in love with Mat Tully, forgets her family dinner for Mr. Lachman, disaster impends.

Now Go On With the Story.

Oliver T. Lachman, president of the Parkhurst National bank, was gone, and all Peter Hollenbeck's hopes had gone with him. He would never be vice-president now. He would never be anything but a clerk. A failure. Lachman would never do anything for him now. Maybe he'd find an excuse to... but no, no man would dismiss a faithful employee just because his daughter... his daughter... Papa's round, gray head went down in his hands. He had not realized how much he had counted on Louise. But I wouldn't let her marry him if she didn't love him, the thought, defending himself and trying to put that last unpleasant picture of a moist and repellent Mr. Lachman snuffing out of the doorstep resolutely out of his mind.

"It wasn't as if I were counting on it, exactly," he whispered to himself. "I just thought, well, it would be a great thing for us all if she happened to take to him. And many a young girl would be only too glad to have the opportunity.

She drew away from his clumsy, reaching arm. Her thin little face was drawn with hate.

"Yes, that's just like you, blaming it on fate, when it's your own fault! It isn't for myself," she managed to articulate between sobs. "I don't care for myself. It's the girls I'm thinking of. My life is ruined. But I won't stand back and see my girls—"

He didn't understand. He just looked at her blankly.

"It's your mother's fault!" she shrieked, pointing a shaking finger at him. "Oh, don't look at me like that! I know! It isn't enough for her to make us ridiculous with the neighbors... she has, she has! Don't you interrupt me! But you see what she's done to Nancy, and now Lou... Lou!"

"I guess Louise is thinking for herself, Kitty." In spite of himself he sighed again, heavily.

"That's all you know. It's that woman. She put her up to it—it's her doing... no girl of mine—"

"Now, Kitty, you'll have one of your headaches."

"Don't Kitty me! Your mother will have to go, that's all. I won't have her in my house another day. This settles it!"

"Kitty—please, Kitty—"

"I'm sure I've tried to do my best. I did advise my girls. Now they've turned against me. You heard Nancy insult Mr. Lachman! You saw how much Louise cared for your feelings! And now you... after all I gave up for you... ooh, to think, that after all these years..."

"Kitty, please—"

"All right, I'll go, then. I'll go to Ellie; she'll take me in. To be turned out of my own home... oh, I can't bear it. How can I ever..."

"But Kitty, darling—"

The tears in mama's eyes dried. She said in quite her ordinary voice, "Make up your mind, I'm waiting! Are you going to get rid of her, or aren't you?"

She thought she had won, for Peter Hollenbeck, seeming to grow smaller and smaller, slumped in his chair until his head fell forward on his chest.

"I'm waiting for my answer!" It was not like Peter to torture her this way! She made a little impatient movement toward him, and saw his face, livid and distorted.

"Peter! You're sick!" But only his stentorian breath answered her. Peter Hollenbeck had had a stroke.

"I'll see you in the morning."

Hollenbeck." Mr. Lachman had said. And now it was morning and Hollenbeck was late.

Mr. Lachman consulted his large gold watch. Compared it with the bank clock. Good! This would make it easier. He had made up his mind to get rid of the old fool. He should have been fired long ago. It wasn't fair to the stockholders to keep him on the payroll. And after the unpleasantness of last evening... He began to compose the little speech he would make, friendly, but firm. Hollenbeck, that the welfare of the bank must come first. Much as it grieves me to have to sever our relations, our... happy relations of so many years, nevertheless you must agree with me that a younger man...

The speech he was rehearsing was never finished. Mr. Stafford, the cashier, brought him the news. Mr. Hollenbeck was sick. A stroke, the doctor said.

Hum... Oliver Lachman was stumped. You can't fire a man while he's sick. "Hum," Mr. Lachman cleared his throat again. "That's sad news!"

The bank employees clubbed together and sent a basket of spring flowers. Mr. Lachman, annoyed, sent a larger basket. What else could he do?

Grandma Hollenbeck climbed stairs, made soup, nursed the invalid. The girls, crushed and silent at first began to think once more of their own affairs. Nancy resumed her mysterious trips downtown, prinking for hours before she left, returning tired, defiant, more impatient than ever with mama's questioning, her warnings and advice.

"I don't care what the circumstances are, Nancy. A young man should always call for a young lady at her home. I don't know what's the matter with young men these days. When I was a girl—"

"Mama, stop! I don't care what you did when you were a girl. I'm going to get all the fun I can out of my life. I don't get much—"

Mama always cried when Nancy spoke so bitterly. I did my best, she thought disconsolately, it isn't my fault that Peter never got ahead. No girls were ever better brought up than mine... ooh, dear, why won't they listen to me?

They wouldn't listen. Nobody would listen. Not even papa. He would close his eyes and pretend to be asleep... maybe he was, she couldn't be sure. But when his mother or the girls wanted to see him he was always awake!

March gave way to April, April with its gift of summery sunshine, roses, fledgling sparrows in the magnolia tree under the bedroom window. And, as if he were feeling the intoxication of spring, the surge of new life all around him, papa began to get well. His dead flesh took on a healthier color, he learned to move his knotted hands. Even his thick tongue became controllable. He looked younger, and happier than he had in years.

"Pretty nice for an old fellow," he grinned, "sitting out in the yard in a wheel chair, with nothing to do but read, and the old check coming in just the same!" He pinched Louise's cheek, and smiled again. He had ceased to worry about her not marrying. After all, it was nice to have the girls home.

And then the blow came. They were sitting around the fire-place after dinner. He was in the wheel chair he had learned to move so easily. Kitty dozed over her embroidery. His mother was mending stockings. Nancy—just a shadow of the gold and rose Nancy of last spring, sat listlessly, lovely hands in her lap, doing nothing. Louise's chair was close to his, he was explaining the heavy-weight championship fight he saw at Selby when Jack Dempsey...

Jack Dempsey... "Just a minute, papa, I think that's for me I'm expecting a phone call!" Louise interrupted, and went out into the hall.

He waited, impatient, for her to return.

At last she came back, and he went on. "Well sir, nobody knew for sure whether the fight was going to come off or not, but I figured I'd be there just in case. And so I was one of the comparatively few who saw one of the greatest championship bouts in history. Well sir, when Jack sat down at the end of the second round..." He talked on and on, watching Lou's flushed, excited face, adding a few blood-thirsty details to make the story better. Then he waited for her comment.

For a long moment she did not answer. Then, addressing no one in particular, her eyes on the tip of her shiny brown pumps she said:

"I'm going to be married Thursday."

"The National Sore Throat Remedy"

Great weather for Polar Bears... ..but it's mighty tough on motor oil

Now's the time to really test the lubricating qualities of New SOHIO MOTOR OIL free from harmful wax

NEW SOHIO

An Advanced Motor Oil
First introduced last May, now still further refined for winter, this 100% paraffin base oil is a greatly improved product representing the most recent scientific developments in the manufacture of lubricants.

NEW SOHIO

Free From Harmful Wax
The harmful, clogging wax has been removed from New Sohio Motor Oil by a remarkable new process which whirles it away at 50° below zero.

NEW SOHIO

Withstands Extreme Heat
Harmful wax gives motor oil an artificial body which melts away under heat... but, New Sohio Motor Oil is free from harmful wax and so holds its body... stands up... even under the extreme heat reached at present day high-speed, high-compression engines.

Now Sohio E-101 Gasoline is specially refined for cold weather—has 35% added starting power.

WHAT happened this morning when you stepped on the starter? Did it grow-w-w-l and gr-r-umble at the task of turning over your motor?

Not if you had New Sohio Motor Oil in the crankcase!

New Sohio Motor Oil will give you a totally new idea of lubrication performance in cold weather. It is an advanced motor oil, made especially to withstand the sudden temperature extremes of typical Ohio weather. All harmful wax has been removed by an astonishing new process which whirles it out at 50° below zero. Alert and free-flowing at extremely low temperatures yet giving positive lubrication all the way up to the peak heat reached in today's high speed engines.

Take advantage of today's low temperature to really test the superiority of this special motor oil. Drive up to any Red-White-and-Blue Service Station or Sohio dealer... drain and refill your crankcase with New Sohio Motor Oil. This big value oil costs but little... 30c a quart. Then compare the ease of starting and the smoothness of your motor with past performance in weather this cold.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(An Ohio Corporation)

NEW SOHIO

Withstands Extreme Cold
Wax hardens when cold... but New Sohio Motor Oil, free from harmful wax, will not become dangerously thick and sluggish even in extreme winter weather.

NEW SOHIO

Saves Battery Bills
The positive lubrication provided by New Sohio Motor Oil at all temperatures makes cold-weather starting much less of a drain on batteries... no dragging of heavy, sluggish oil.

NEW SOHIO

Reduces Carbon Formation
Excess wax in motor oils forms a gummy, sticky deposit which quickly turns into carbon. New Sohio Motor Oil reduces carbon formation, keeps engines cooler, guards against loss of power.

... Tune in on the Sohioans... Every Tuesday evening at 7:30 WTAM and WLW.
